

What did you make with your produce? Let us see your creations!

One winner will be featured in the following Newsletter, the others will go on the blog.

Email them to clamoureux@accesscounty.ca

Meet Brianne

What is your favourite part about working in the office? Working as a team and having different projects all the time.

What is the most important thing you have learnt through this experience? To be less shy and to work on having different ideas.

My next goal: To teach kids art and grow my art business.

Do not forget to return your produce bags to your delivery person so that we may reuse them.

Meet Amber

What is your favourite part about working in the garden? Getting my hands dirty.

What is the most important thing you have learnt through this experience? How to know which plants are weeds.

My next goal: To get hired again next year.

Fun fact: I ride horses.

HEALTH BENEFITS

Swiss Chard is one of the most nutritious vegetables around and ranks second to spinach in total nutrient-richness. One particular benefit of chard is its ability to regulate your blood sugar levels!

Recipe of the day: Sauteed Garlicky Swiss Chard

Ingredients:

- 1 bunch Swiss Chard
- 4 minced garlic cloves
- 2 tbs. Canola/grapeseed oil
- 1/2 Lemon Juice
- 2 oz. Parmesan Cheese

Directions:

1. Heat a skillet over medium-high heat. Add oil and then minced garlic and chard stems with a dash of salt to heated oil. Sauté until soft, ~3 min
2. Add chard leaves, as much as can fit in the pan at a time, with a pinch of salt. Add ore leaves as room is made in the pan. Sauté until all leaves are wilted. Season to taste with salt and

Tip of the Day!

Keeping the stem

Some recipes recommend you throw away chard stems or you do not separate them from the leaves. But by keeping them, it provides a nice texture to the meal and is a great source of fiber! However, you should separate them from the leaves because they take a bit longer to cook.

More information about the vegetables and herbs included in your bag, our team, the farms and ACCESS can be found on our website <http://accessgarden.jimdo.com/>, Facebook page <https://www.facebook.com/AccessGarden> and Instagram Account @Accessgarden.

